

I coded sampling without replacement by accident. Fix the urn routine before interpreting the narrowing spread, and retain the old output in the lab notebook as a documented modelling error.